HISTORIQUES TRIPLE CALENDAR 1942

CLASSIC

Late 2017, Vacheron Constantin made several additions to its Historiques collection, which for the past two decades has reworked the icons of the Manufacture's technical and aesthetic heritage. One of these new Historiques is the Triple Calendar 1942, which shows date by hand, day and month in apertures, and small seconds. The movement is Calibre 4400 QC, a new-generation, in-house, manual-wind calibre whose base version replaced Vacheron Constantin's first "workhorse" movement, the 1400, as from 2009. Power reserve has been extended to 65 hours for enhanced precision. This vintage-inspired piece in steel makes for an excellent entry-point into Fine Watchmaking.
